On-Line Remote Learning and Teaching - A Collaborative Success!

Firstly, and so importantly, I would like to thank all the parents and students for their support of on-line remote learning. I appreciate there have been several challenges in the initial stages of our remote learning and teaching. Those of you with a number of children in different year levels from different schools have noticed how busy things have become! Those of you also working from home may have experienced even more significant challenges – yet, you have managed to overcome these barriers. Congratulations to you all! It has been truly amazing: for students, parents and teachers alike!

Who would have thought that, fewer than four weeks ago, we would have been informed that most Victorian students would be educated from home when Term 2 started to ensure the physical distancing which would help slow the spread of coronavirus? Furthermore, it would have been inconceivable to think that staff would be given four days – yes, four days - to ensure that the curriculum would be accessible on-line and that it could be delivered to students in a satisfactory manner and that parents would provide appropriate home support.

These are exceptional circumstances and I am continually amazed at what has been achieved! I would like to thank you all very much for making it all happen – so successfully! It has been only through the combined magnificent efforts from all parents, students and staff that the process could have been such a great success. I also appreciate the feedback from parents to inform me of what has been and is happening (or not happening), so we can continue to refine and improve our processes even more. We want to get better and have had several meetings based on the goal of improving our lesson delivery to all students.

Phone Policy Reminder.

A reminder to our students of the mobile phone policy that mobile phones should not be included in the work area during class times, including where students are working during remote learning.

Further Important Information.

As you would appreciate, the coronavirus situation is changing rapidly, often daily, and it is difficult to have all the answers all the time. However, as a school community, we will continue to follow all DET guidelines and put all precautionary measures in place to deal with the situation.

We are committed to ensuring the wellbeing of all involved with the college and it is important to note that, at this time, we have no confirmation of coronavirus within the Brauer Community.

Premier, Daniel Andrews, and James Merlino, the Victorian Minister for Education, have both given the message: all children who can learn at home must learn at home - with exceptions only in extremely limited circumstances. If attending the College, these students will be accessing their classes on-line and not have their usual classroom teacher. Parents need to fill out the on-site application form before a child can be accepted. I would like to take this opportunity to thank parents for being very supportive and, thus far, I have been able to accommodate all requests.

Study Tip #8: Preparing for successful remote learning

Setting up for successful study at home requires some planning. Learning from home can have its challenges, but it can also be rewarding. It is important to balance your commitment to learn with taking time out to utilise your breaks with activities that help you to focus when you return to your desk. It will take a little time to get used to learning remotely from home, but try different things & focus on what WORKS for you. Learning will be most effective if you are committed to making it work and putting in the effort!! The following simple tips may help you to be set up and ready to learn!

- A dedicated desk/ study area that is your space – check that you have it cleared and ready to go! Also have your pencil case with pens, pencils, highlighters, ruler, a comfy chair and good lighting. Tidy it up every afternoon ready for the next day.
- Learning materials for each subject organised and on or near your desk – folders, workbooks, text books.
- Ensure your learning device is charged at the start of each day (a powerpoint nearby is handy for charging if needed!)
- PLAN for all other devices not required for learning to be placed in another room, or with a parent – if nearby it WILL be a distraction! Have a plan with your family as to when you can access your phone for social media… & stick to it!!
- Make sure your day is structured – pretend it is a normal school day so that your brain is ready to learn!!
- Have recess and lunch breaks – get up from your desk for a change of pace. Make them physical breaks or relaxing breaks – even build in a social break!
- Most importantly… have fun learning!!

Study Tip #9: Preparing for successful remote learning #2

You have now had a few days to experience remote learning!! There will no doubt be things that are working well for you, other things that you are still getting used to, and maybe even things that are not working well for you. This experience is about TRYING different things and keep doing the things that help you to focus and learn at home. Independent learning can be rewarding – make it work for you!! Keep revisiting these tips so that you can check in on what you are doing, and what you can still do to help you learn more effectively from home. The following simple tips are further ideas to help you be ready to learn!

- Create a list of ideas for recess and lunchtime – vary your activities (take dog for walk, play basketball, go for a bike ride, contact a friend, kick a footy, play a game… be inventive!)
- Use brain breaks throughout your learning time to give your brain a quick change of focus – you will be more ready for effective learning after a 2 minute brain break! Ideas are placed on Compass each day for you to try! J
- Have healthy food available for breaks & drink plenty of water during the day – your brain needs good fuel for effective learning!! Avoid reaching for sugar snacks – they will tire your brain out!
- Stay in touch with your teachers… be aware of the expectations that each teacher has & communicate with them any time you are unsure.
- Feed back to your teachers about what you like and don’t like with remote learning… and what is working and not working for you. Your teachers will be very happy to hear from you so they can keep tailoring activities for you to learn best!!
- Most importantly… have fun learning!!

ANZAC DAY 2020 – WARRNAMBOOL

Warrnambool RSL’s Commemoration Sub-Committee has been pursuing its aim of always providing the best commemoration it can for our Community on ANZAC Day.

As members of our community are aware the Covid - 19 restrictions have severely impacted ANZAC Day Services across the country.

Instead of the traditional services conducted by Warrnambool RSL we are have been in the process of recording our Warrnambool ANZAC Day service which will be streamed on social media via the Warrnambool RSL Facebook page. Members of the community can access this local service either directly through our Facebook page or by searching for the Warrnambool RSL Facebook page via google.

The service will include familiar items such as the Prayer, the Ode, Last Post and Reveille. We will also include an address by our guest speaker Catherine McGregor, recorded at the National Vietnam Memorial in Canberra.

The footage is being produced by a local company, Fitz Media Productions, who have provided the capability for us to bring you a broadcast-quality production. We greatly appreciate their willing and invaluable help and the aid of Warrnambool City Council.

So, your total ANZAC Day experience can begin as follows:

• 05:30 am – ANZAC Dawn Service from The Shrine of Remembrance in Melbourne, brought to you in your own home by ABC Television and Radio
• 06:00 am – ‘Stand to for the ANZACs’ at your front gate
• from 06:00 am – Warrnambool Community Dawn Service, as if from the Warrnambool War Memorial, brought to you at home by the Warrnambool City Council, Fitz Media Productions and Warrnambool RSL

“STAND TO”
CALL FOR ANZAC DAY DRIVEWAY TRIBUTE

The RSL is calling on Australia to honour Anzac Day by standing at the end of their driveways for a minute's silence after public events were cancelled.

"This is an idea that has gathered momentum on social media, and we agree it's a brilliant way to collectively honour the dedication, commitment and sacrifice of our service people.

"Regardless of the form this year's Anzac Day commemorations take place across Australia, let's show that Australians will always remember those who have served and sacrificed for this nation."

People can safely commemorate a different kind of dawn service by standing on their driveway or balcony at 6am and uniting in the Anzac spirit.

GUEST SPEAKER - GROUP CAPTAIN CATHERINE MCGREGOR AM

Catherine served for nearly four decades in the Australian Defence Force. Her service embraced a diverse range of strategic policy and operational roles including three operational deployments overseas.

She was the speech writer to every Chief of the Army from 2000 until her retirement in 2014.

For her exceptional service to the Australian Army she was gazetted in the Military Division of the Order of Australia on Australia Day 2012.

She was voted one of Australia's most Influential Women by the Australian Women's Weekly in consecutive years 2013, 2014 and 2015.

Today Catherine McGregor is a prominent writer, a commentator and broadcaster who covers cricket and politics for News Limited.

The system will save everything for you in your own Secure Account.

The site contains a huge amount of information and should be your first stop when you are looking for information on anything job, careers, university and TAFE related - plus there is so much more!

1. Go to the site now – the link is at the top of this page.

On the “Home Page” please note:

a) The Message Board – I will post messages and notices here, so keep an eye on this.
b) All that you have at your fingertips – please explore the site.

2. You can book a time for your teacher to call you via the Appointment Booking System. The link is in 3 places. The top left of the home page; as well as, under the “For Parents” and “For Students” menus. Just click on a day you wish to speak with your teacher, then a box will appear for you to fill in your details and select a time.

3. Now you need to create an account. Once you do this, you will have this account until you leave school.
   a) Go to the “For Students” menu, and then select “Students’ Secure Area” (there is a link on this page with videos on how to Register and log in if you need it).
   b) Click on the red “Register here” button and enter your details:
   c) Click the blue “Register” button – your account is now created, and you will be re-directed to the Login page to log in.

If you already have an account but can’t remember your password:

a) Go to the “For Students” menu, and then select “Students’ Secure Area”

b) Click on the “Reset Your Password” link

c) Enter the email address you registered with and click on “Send Password Reset Link”

d) An email will be sent to you with a link to select a new password. You need to do this straight away as the link will expire and you will need to start again. If you don’t get it, then check your SPAM/Junk folder.

4. Please remember that the lessons and activities need to be downloaded and saved to your computer before you fill them out. If you do not do this, your work may not save! Completed lessons/activities and any other Pdf or Word Docs you need to keep are to be uploaded to your “Document Draw” which can be found in the left-hand menu.

5. There is a “Help” link in the left-hand menu where you can access “Help Videos” on each feature in your Student Account. There is also a “Help” button on the welcome page when you first log in.

6. The “Activities” tab can be accessed via the green button on the welcome page when you first log in. You will be informed on which ones you need to do and when. You may even be informed to access lessons in the left-hand menu if they are made available there too.
Congratulations Kyah Chisholm for receiving the Excellence Award for your artwork titled Disconnected Generation.

Kyah received this outstanding award at the NEXT GEN 2020 exhibition official awards ceremony at the Ballarat Art Gallery, in February.

Next Gen 2020 showcases the work of students from Government, Catholic and Independent schools mainly from Ballarat and its broader region, who have just completed VCE studies in Art, Studio Arts, Design and Technology, Visual Communication and Design and Media.

The Art Gallery of Ballarat has been exhibiting some of the best work produced by students from across western Victoria for twenty years. NEXT GEN continues to be an important part of the Gallery’s exhibition program and both provides industry training to its participants, acts as an inspiring introduction to VCE art for current students, and gives Gallery visitors insights into the world of young people today.

Well done Kyah for receiving the Excellence Award, an outstanding effort.

Global Foods have been investigating Italian cuisine and comparing homemade over commercially produced pasta.

Students had to make their own pasta at home and improvise with their available resources. This included using a glass bottle to roll out the dough instead of a rolling pin or pasta machine and then using a knife to cut the pasta into the preferred thickness. Most enjoyed the challenge and commented on how easy it was to produce. It was also surprising how many students preferred the flavour and texture (mouthfeel) of the homemade pasta but generally preferred the commercial variety for its consistent appearance.

REMOTE COOKING AT HOME

We are studying Greek cooking at the moment so they were given 2 recipes to choose from.

The recipes were Kourabiethes Biscuits or Quiche Lorraine.
During the school holidays, I played a lot of Monopoly. I played about 6 games with my sister and my Mum. Sadly, I only won one of them :(. I also played a couple of games of Monopoly with my Dad online because he is stuck up at work in Roxby Downs (which is in SA). I also didn’t win any of them.

Tyler McCreanor

During the holidays, I worked a lot on our old farm chasing sheep. In my spare time, I played heaps of Uno games with my family.

Jack Dwyer

For my holidays, my family and I drove up to Noosa Heads and Marcoola in Queensland. Along the way, we stopped at places such as “The big Strawberry”, The Murray River, many servos and small towns across the state. One of my favourite parts about the trip was, of course, the warm weather (because we definitely don’t get heaps of that in Warrnambool), the beach and pools and pools at the hotel. The picture below is of me about to get smashed by one of the many gigantic waves at the Noosa Heads Main Beach. Hope you enjoyed reading this.

Ayesha Kelly

On the holidays, I did not help on the farm as much as I normally do because of coronavirus. My parents were concerned about my health and their health. So, they said that my brothers and I would not be allowed to go to work. But then they let us go to work because my Dad needed help on the farm, so I went and helped him.

Josiah Draffen

During these holidays, me and my friends played Minecraft and Call of Duty Modern Warfare, and also did online soccer with my club. Me and mum built a soccer goal out of wood because my old goals were too small, so now it’s easy to shoot.

Will Anders

On my holidays, I played a lot of xbox and competed against my Dad in a few games of pool. In pool, I didn’t win many games because my Dad has played a lot longer than me.

On the xbox, I was playing a little bit of Minecraft and Wazone with the boys.

Luke Lane

On the holidays, I did a lot of baking and cooking. I also painted over so many of my old paintings and made new ones, and helped my mum make heaps of juices.

Some unexpected benefits of the Corona Virus (COVID - 19) is that families are coming together, e.g. playing board games, watching movies together or just simply cooking in the kitchen. Quarantine is hard but we will all get through this together. One thing that has changed for me in this time of the pandemic is that I am playing board games with my family.

With all the restrictions and changes we're experiencing, there are bound to be benefits if you really want to see them. This pandemic has brought so many communities closer with absolutely no contact, and that speaks volumes about who we really are as a population. Personally, quarantine has given me and my siblings a lot more time to hang out and, because we are always around each other, we can tolerate each other for longer periods of time. How cool is that?! My youngest sister has taken a liking to squealing “family bonding!” every time we play a board game or do something together.

Being at home has also allowed me to come up with more recipes, using only the ingredients in my pantry, so that’s always a fun challenge! I am pretty much a MasterChef now - just ask my mum! I have not yet been driven completely insane as I am a volunteer at the RSPCA, so getting out of the house and spending time with animals and people (at a distance!) who are passionate about the same things as I am is very special. I also foster cats and kittens, so, whenever I'm not volunteering, you can find me looking after sick or injured animals at my own home, which is incredibly beneficial in itself.

I don’t see quarantine ending soon but I know that, if we come together (not literally), focus on being the best version of ourselves and always be kind, we will get through this.

What in Sanitation!
Wow! How things have changed in the last few months! It's interesting to watch the development the world has made to better equip ourselves against a virus. Before lockdown, I don't think I would've been fixing as many puzzles as I am now! But, if you focus on how society has changed, not just our everyday practices but our mindset towards things, you will see that it is changed for the better.

Yes, at the start we all felt a bit reluctant to our new way of living but we learnt over time that it was a choice we had to make and, although people have been a little apprehensive about lockdown, all I can say is INTROVERTS REJOICE! Families are starting to connect again, which is AWESOME! I've become a much happier person now, thanks to our new lifestyle. Nevertheless, this is a very serious time and I hope everyone stays safe and are using the right amounts of sanitiser and toilet paper.

But, one thing is for certain: I still miss tennis. :(

Grace Joosen

Although COVID-19 has interrupted our school holidays, personally I don't think it was the worst thing to happen. Yes, people dying is horrible and the virus spreading is bad, but the time away from friends and family has made me come to realise how lucky I am to have such amazing people in my life. People who stick by me and love me for the person I am. I miss my friends and family so much and hope they are all staying safe.

Before COVID-19, I think I took my friends for granted. Going to school and seeing them was like a normal thing and I am missing it a lot.

Social distancing has allowed me to draw a lot closer with the people with whom I live: my mum, dad and little sister. We have all learnt to get along and help each other through these difficult times. I'm very lucky to have people who care as much as my parents do about me. COVID-19 has few positives but I really enjoy the time I spend at home doing cooking and art and riding, all the things I love to do, it allows me to have time to myself and focus on what is important.

Although this virus has ruined our school holiday plans we made with our friends, it has drawn me so much closer to my family.

Unexpected improvements from our current living circumstances affected by the coronavirus

We might all be going through tough times but the one good thing is that we are all going through this together and we can lean on others when we need. We all need to be there for each other, no matter what’s happening.

We will all get through this together - and alive - if people would stop panicking and leave food for everyone else. We all have to eat you know!

Seriously, everyone just has to de-stress and calm down. We’ve all gone through the fires helping each other; why can’t we do it now? Now let’s all stay home - this should all blow over eventually.

Stay happy and stay healthy!

Callum Bridge

During this difficult time, we are left stuck in our houses with nothing but time. Not only are we finding old games and rediscovering our love for indoor activities, but we are also growing as people.

Although, at times, it seems like nothing positive can come out of this, we somehow find a way to stay positive and make the most out of what we can. We are left reflecting and reminiscing on our past and remembering good times we have spent with others. Lots of us are reconnecting with people we haven’t talked to in a while, remembering the good times we shared and helping each other get through this tough time.

We are not only able to reconnect with others we are also given the opportunity to become the best person you can be. Being stuck inside at times may be difficult and at times you may feel gloomy, but it is how we get up and get through the next day that lets us know that we are strong and that we can get through this tough time. Most of us are stuck spending this time with families and, although at times you may struggle to get along with each other, it is important that we cherish the moments we have spent together because, in normal circumstances, we most likely wouldn’t have spent this time together.

Another thing which has come out of this is our larger sense of community: together, we help each other out and support those who need it the most.

The changes to my life during quarantine.

I'm lonely. Very alone. It's been 15 days since I saw another human. I love it. As an introvert I have been really enjoying the time to think about my friendships and who really cares about me.

I have played many video games, I was procrastinating on finishing. I've cleaned my room twice, set up my desk area, gardened, and even caught up on a lot of television. I will admit though I have missed some of my friends and hanging out, getting bubble tea and partying (aka watching horror movies together). Yet I have been enjoying it, except when I watched season 8 of Game of Thrones. That was a disappointment.

Overall, I have had a good time, without the noise of other people. I have been calm and enjoyed the time to get my life together.

Ella Freeland
Year 10 Prep. For VCE English

The world has rapidly changed in the last couple months and completely flipped the way we interact and learn. Throughout it all, I have enjoyed many more things and found some happiness and laughter in the little things.

The surprise benefits of these different times are being able to catch up on more things. I've gotten back into writing songs and playing the ukulele which gives me comfort as I can relate what I'm feeling to a song. I've also been able to catch up on fitness and working out which is incredibly important for our lifestyle but also, at this time, as we are stuck inside all day, we don't want to become lazy slugs by the time we get out :):

All in all, I've found small things to keep me busy and contacted many more people which has opened many new conversations. This is definitely an experience though. :)

ENGLISH DEPARTMENT
Maths Pathway have changed the way students access their tests during remote learning. Students do not need a printer, just a quiet spot without distractions and a reminder to submit a photo of their answers into the Learning task on Compass to be marked by their teacher.

We are also able to print modules and post home if you have internet issues. Please contact your child's teacher with any queries.

Using Maths Pathway ensures our students remain on track with their Learning Growth through this period. Although your child is working at their individual level, they may need support to complete modules and students have a range of strategies including staying in a zoom meeting to get help, watching a video, asking a friend, checking a dictionary, checking Khan Academy online, youtube and emailing their teacher.

We are also very happy if you show them the 'old way' of solving Maths problems - Maths is still Maths!

PFA UPDATE

We had a great response from our 2 fundraisers for Term 1 - thank you all for your support.

The Bulb/Sticker Fundraiser sold over $1300 worth of products, of which almost 50% is profit.

The Easter Raffle made over $730 in ticket sales and we had an impressive array of hampers that were won on the last day of Term 1. This fundraiser was only possible thanks to the generous donations by our families, thank you all.

Huge thank you to Mel, Julie and Jane who popped in and created the prize hampers and to Trudy for drawing the winning tickets. It was lovely to see some of our office staff among the winners - we appreciate all of their time and attention to detail.

Congratulations to our Winners:

Good luck with the continuing Remote Learning, take care of yourself and we look forward to catching up as soon as we can.

SUPPORT TO YEAR 12 STUDENTS REGARDING 2021 PATHWAYS

Dear 12 Students and Families,

A large part of my role is to support you into your pathway for 2021. I am really keen to ensure that I am able to support all year 12 students with this in any way I can, particular because the current situation may have created some uncertainty for you.

I think that you should be reassured that extra effort will be put in place so that pathways into University and TAFE will be available for you. With possible reduced intake of international students next year, there may in fact be increased availability of these places. So if you have a goal to move into tertiary education next year (or even apply and defer), I think that you should feel positive about that.

If you are considering other pathways such as employment, then it is also important to consider your strategy for that.

Whatever your plans, or even if you don’t have any yet, I am keen to support you.

Ways to communicate with me

I am happy to work with you in any way you would like. This may include:

- Email: iain.jackson@education.vic.gov.au
- Text or Phone: 0409184223
- Zoom Meeting

Please try to complete your pathway plan in compass insights.

Please contact me if you would like to clarify anything. There is no such thing as a silly question.

The Youth Awards are a wonderful opportunity for the community to recognise and celebrate our young people.

In light of the COVID-19 virus and restrictions on social gatherings this year’s awards will be celebrated by a special Live Stream Event where all award winners and runners up will be announced.

To view the Youth Showcase and the Youth Award presentation evening follow this link: bit.ly/WarrnamboolMoyneYouthAwards Make sure you click on the link, register yourself as going to the event and share with anyone else you think might enjoy it.

The awards are our young people’s night of nights – so let’s dress for the occasion. This is your chance to get out of your pj’s, trackies and slippers, frock up or suit up, and celebrate together in style with a big night in… Dress to the nines, in bed by 10!

We hope you can join us for this special occasion and please feel free to share the event details with your friends.

NOTE: If you do not have a Facebook account all you need to do is google Warrnambool City Council or Moyne Shire Council and follow the link to the organisations Facebook page –this is a public page and is accessible to everyone.
